As one of Western's faculty members so aptly phrased it, "Mrs. Lowman certainly practices what she preaches." Mrs. Josephine Cherry Lowman is a woman. Consequently, no one knows the exact dimensions of her waist line. But Mrs. Lowman is not just another woman. She is a woman who can talk about waistlines forever without mention-

Strahm Honored By Music Club

The late Professor Franz J. Strahm was honored with a memorial program at the first meeting of the Bowling Green Music Club, Wednesday afternoon at the Kentucky Building.

The program consisted of the reading of a tribute to Mr. Strahm by Mrs. Sam Woolsey, followed by two numbers composed by Mr. Strahm—"A Dream" and "Behold Our God, The Lord." Presenting the numbers were Mrs. J. B. Helm and Mrs. Wallace McGinley.

All three of the women participating in the program were pupils of the local musician.

In her tribute to Mr. Strahm, Mrs. Woolsey said in part: "Mr. Strahm was the nineteenth boy of a family of 24 children. His musical education began when he was six years old, under the guidance of his

Miss Marks Visits Lashley Quads--Undecided on College

Miss Mary Marks of the geography department recently turned reporter and interviewed the Lashley quadruplets in person at their home near Leitchfield, Kentucky. Miss Marks was impressed not only by the charm of the quadruplets but by the entire family.

Said Miss Marks: "If these other children are an example of what Mrs. Lashley's training can do to a family, the nursery does not seem necessary. Just let the quadruplets grow up with the rest of the family."

The nursery has four rooms on the fourth floor of the lower floor of a white house. Four windows in the front room overlook the brick veranda. Looking through these windows are the babies' cribs, each stamped with the names: Martine, Mildred, Beulah, and John. The four high chairs and four dainty rockers in the front room, as well as the four teeny-weensy chests of drawers, are also stamped with their owner's name. The color scheme of this furniture is blond and is trimmed with nursery rhyme characters, three identical styles for Martine, Beulah, and Mildred, and one for John.

There Was Never A Dull Moment Under R. P. Green

By A. L. Crabb

It is most desirable spiritually for one at intervals to spend time in recreating his past, in rediscovering those major influences of which he is compounded. The writer was for fourteen years directly associated as student, as colleague, and as friend with Robert Powell Green. He remembers vividly the first time he ever saw Professor Green. It was snowing hard outside. Inside, the teacher of beginning Latin was starting the class on its spirited march across the term. Spirited is right! There was never a dull moment in any class taught by R. P. Green, though the courses he taught have, in other hands, often seemed to beget tedium. He could, and did, pull Julius Caesar off most boring-looking pages and send him in person at the head of the imperial legions marching across continents in the plain view of pop-eyed students. The Caesarian terms passed and the professor changed the "fillum" and there was Aeneas laying the foundations of the Rome that in the fullness of time was to breed a Caesar. You didn't need a thriller when R. P. Green taught Virgil.

He came, as have so many pun-

Franz J. Strahm 1867 - 1941

Editor's Note: The following story on the life of the late Franz J. Strahm, one of Western's most beloved professors, was written by last year's editor of the COLLEGE HEIGHTS HERALD. It was written at the special request of the HERALD.

By Bert Borrone

In the east wing of Western's new Music Building there is an empty office this fall, and in her Hall of Fame a new name. For Professor Franz J. Strahm, virtuoso, composer, inspirer, the kindly, twinkling-eyed German-American artist whom eight generations of Hilltop pilgrims took to his heart, is gone.

A short, sharp illness, striking with all the speed and finality of his own dazzling fingers, cut short the Indian Summer of Western's nationally-famed, pioneering musician early one evening late last June and thus brought to an end the life of one who had been dedicated to the cause of music for seventy of his seventy-four years.

For a quarter-century head of Western's music department and composer of the official school song, "Normal March," Professor Strahm made contributions to the college, to Kentucky, to the South that one hardly dares attempt to evaluate. The scope of his work was so great, the individual nature of his genius so indefinable, the quality of his productions and compositions so absolute as to defy adequate summation.

Professor Strahm composed prodigiously, produced innumerable works, gave hundreds of concert performances, directed some of the most famed groups in Europe and in the South, including Tennessee's celebrated Monteleague Assembly for nine years. He was a pioneer in the field of orchestration and in glee club work, an indefatigable student of art in all its forms, a teacher who gave freely of his boundless energy, burning zeal, and rich, thorough background, which included training under Liszt in his native Germany and fifty years of concert experience both in Europe and in the U. S.

Yet these accomplishments, as essential as they must be to any who would review his career, are only a few scattered pages as it were from the volume of his life. For the true worth of Professor Strahm to music, to the South lay in his role of inspirer and friend. Down through the years with each of the thousands who came in contact with him, who heard him play, he left a little of that magic fire that was his art and a little of the love, the passion he felt for music. And perhaps that, after all, is the most profound test of his greatness.

Professor Strahm was far in advance of his time. While others were laboring still in the fields of mutation and integration, he was already deeply immersed in the intricacies of orchestration, voice blending and chorals. And while the vast majority of his Southern contemporaries lazed in lethargy, his pioneering spirit was carrying him further and further into the very soul of music so that the greatly cherished tribute once paid him long ago by Franz Liszt, "That Strahm boy is a musician," seemed fittingly and prophetically bestowed.

For a full fifty years, from the time he graduated from the Royal

The Late Franz J. Strahm

Conservatory at Sonderhausen at the age of 17 until he retired in 1933, the flood of life never left Professor Strahm in its wake. In looking back over his list of accomplishments during that period one is reminded of nothing quite so much as a great river. Perhaps only in the analogy of a tremendous mass of flowing water, with its raging torrents, its quiet pools, its swirling eddies, and its broad, sweeping grandeur can one begin to understand and appreciate something of the depth, the power, the moving force, the genius of this man.

There, were years filled to the brim with instruction and composition, and the problems and possibilities of production. There was the annual May Music Festival which he inaugurated in 1910 and for which he was often forced to write or rearrange the script and orchestration. There was the Monteleague Assembly which filled nine summers. There was the gargantuan task of transforming the handful of embryonic courses which he inherited when he came to Western in 1910, and which was standard equipment in those days, into the progressive, well-rounded schedule available to local students today. There were the duties of the teacher, the friend, the father. And there was the willing task he undertook of inspiring.

But occasionally the flood would slow, for he was a man after all, and then would course the quiet eddies and the deep, cool, shadowy pools. Though composition, direction, production, experimentation must fill his life, woven in now and then were periods when he would once more sit at the piano to a hushed audience and touch the keys with the magic fire of his genius. It never dimmed, that fire, and even as late as 1939 when he gave his last public performance his playing was still the rich, virile, interpretative thing Liszt had once called Music.

Professor Strahm's life was once termed by one who knew him very well "a symphony in deeds." It is not within the compass of this article to improve or to elaborate upon that statement. It lacks nothing. It is complete within itself even as his life was. For Professor Franz J. Strahm created something bigger than himself, bigger than Western, bigger than all mankind. He breathed life into a printed symbol and made of music something in which the uninitiated as well as the devotees could find the peace, the beauty, the eldorado simplicity he did.

The pattern of Professor Strahm's life, whether inadvertently or not, closely followed and with amazing exactitude, though in no set sequence, the dynamics of his beloved compositions.

Born May 14, 1867, in Freiburg, Germany, the son of Joseph Franz and Louise Sedetaky Strahm, he entered into the pianissimo stage of his career while but a lad of 4. Both of his parents were talented musicians, his father having held the role of lead tenor in all Freiburg and South German festivals for more than sixty years and so it was only natural that this son, the third of three talented children, in a large family, should find in music the outlet for all childish emotions. For two years he deeply immersed himself in the intricacies of the piano and at the age of six had already attracted the attention of Reisenauer, celebrated pupil of Paris' Mowakowsky.

Even at this early age he entered upon the mezzo-piano, a new phase of what was to culminate in a glorious career. From the time he was six until he became 15 he studied at the Conservatory of Catholic Church Music under some of the most celebrated masters of all Germany. Such was the aptitude of the young virtuoso that upon his graduation in 1882 from that institution he was granted a scholarship to the Royal Conservatory at Sonderhausen, which honor carried with it the privilege of each week receiving a lesson from Franz Liszt. It was then that the master remarked: "He needs a little more temperament and a little less mannerism."

John Searcy head clerk of the College Heights Post Office, reports that various interesting titles are found on numerous letters addressed to the college. Mail is still addressed to the Southern Normal School, Potter College, and Ogden College. Some interesting combinations found on letters are: Cherry Brother's College, Kentucky State Business University, Kentucky State College, Kentucky State University, Bowling Green College, Bowling Green Normal University, Cherry College, Kentucky Normal, and several others.

HILLTOPICS

Yesterday, I happened to meet "Red" Gray, freshman from Countyseat, Ky., and talked at length about the many experiences that Joe College and Betty Coed face during their first two weeks as freshmen. Here are a few that "Red" says that he'll never forget: "The first glimpse of my roommate? ... the contrast between the table manners of the first meal and a week later the chill that scaled my spine when I first heard the Western cheer song sung in assembly ... the comforting warmth of the quarter hourly chimes to a homesick heart the first Sunday on the campus and nothing to do ... the privilege of shaking hands with the President and the Dean in the faculty reception line."

Regardless of her religion, "Winkie" Waggener believes in predestination—or at least she should. "Winkie" and her high school pal, Jean Lilly of Morganfield, planned to be roommates this year. At the last minute, Jean found that she was unable to attend Western this fall. "Winkie" immediately informed Miss Susie West McClanahan of the change and asked her to find a suitable roommate.

Upon arrival at West Hall, Miss Waggener was informed that her but already this Strahm had is a musician."

Following two years of instruction at the Royal Conservatory, Professor Strahm, now a youth of 17, received the degree of Major-minors and thus entered upon the piano.

For seven years, from 1884 when he received the cherished degree until 1891 when America called, he roamed the Continent as a member of the Royal Court Orchestra. Already he was a talented soloist both on the piano and the viola and now he began taking a turn at directing small concerts at Freiburg. But the years passed and Professor Strahm, now 24 and filled with the burning ambition to transmit at least a part of the tremendous passion he felt for music to others, was attracted by the glowing reports of virgin fields in Southern United States. Leaving family, friends, and a promising position at Sonderhausen, he accepted the challenge and left for America.

Then began a twenty-year period, the forte, almost Wagnerian in its scope, that was to still further develop the amazing multitude of this pioneer's talents and which was to witness the final blooming of the individual quality of his genius. Practically the entire period was spent in Nashville. He taught, he directed, he composed, he inspired. A clipping from the Nashville Tennessean of uncertain date in 1909 in praise of his work and deploring his departure (for he had already accepted Dr. Cherry's offer of department head of Western Normal) states: "Nashville music-lovers and the untitled alike are losing in Professor Strahm one who worked unceasingly and with marked success to instill appreciation in the higher and more obscure elements of his art."

With his coming to Western in 1910 began a thirty-one year period which was to witness the culmination of his genius into the mezzo-forte, the fortissimo, and the crescendo. Almost over night was discernible the transformation in the scope and quality of the school's music and the effect of the innogy-

"Believe it or not," there are four perfect swastikas on either side of the main door of the Administration Building. But don't become alarmed, they were there long before the shouting paper hanger had even received his corporal's rating in the German Army.

If you like to discuss travel, especially the unusual, Raymond Kittinger is good for a nice long chat. During the past summer, he traveled on an oil tanker to various portions of the Caribbean Sea. His journeys took him as far South as Venezuela and West to Haiti.

Word has reached my ears that a host of this year's representatives to the Tobacco Festival are on the Hill this fall. Some of those enrolled at the Hill this year are Sue Taylor Dixon; Elizabeth Worrell, Princeton; Betty Bonny, Madisonville; and Georgianna Young, Providence.

There is one faculty member in the Hill that certainly keeps physically fit. I am speaking of our Professor of Military Science and Tactics, Colonel E. B. Crabbill. Last spring I saw him perform on the horizontal bars and his demonstration would make most any "Toppers" athlete blush in shame.

HILLTOPICS

On October 13, Western students will have an opportunity to hear one of the best popular college musical features that has ever toured America. Of course this reference is made to Herbert Petrie and his famous White Hussars. At the popular price of twenty-five cents there is not a student on the Hill who can afford to miss this attraction.

HILLTOPICS

When Professor Strahm introduced, after he had been here scarcely a year, Dr. H. H. Cherry lifted the State Normal from the site now occupied by the Bowling Green Business University and placed it on the crest of Vinegar Hill. Professor Strahm, who was to play no little part in the transformation of the Normal to a teachers' college, shouldered his burden and went along. The great work he did in teaching, the high rank to which he elevated his department, the records of his pupils down through the years require no elaboration.

It was only then, after he had fully established Western in the nation's musical circles, that he turned his attention to composition. The partial list of his works includes, in addition to "Normal March," eight other piano compositions, four vocal arias, three chorals, and a violin nocturne. His "Festival Mass in G" has been called one of the most beautifully arranged works ever composed by a Southerner.

Forced by waning strength and the desire to devote his time to instruction in applied music and in composition, Professor Strahm resigned his department headship in the summer of 1935. During his later years he was a graduate student in harmony and counterpoint under Dr. Percy Goetschius, honorary president of the New York Institute of Music and Art.

Among other positions Professor Strahm held were those of president of the Tennessee Academy of Music, director of the Monteleague Assembly and a position on the extension department of the National Academy of Music.

But great as were the honors he received during his long and distinguished career, perhaps the one Professor Strahm would have cherished most is that thousands of loyal Westerners are paying him by finding in their hearts a place where his memory may linger.

There is an empty office in Western's new Music Building this fall and in her Hall of Fame a new name:

Professor Franz J. Strahm, Virtuoso, Composer, Inspirer

Devotionals Are Chapel Features

President Paul L. Garrett has announced that the majority of the chapels on Wednesdays will be of the devotional type. Most of these programs will be presented by students of the various denominations.

The first of this series of programs was presented last Wednesday, with Dr. James P. Cornette of the English department conducting the devotional.

The initial chapel program, September 23, consisted of important announcements by Dean F. C. Grise and a welcome by President Garrett.

The next chapel exercise, which was held on the succeeding Friday, was in the charge of the Bowling Green Ministerial Club. The pastors of the various churches met with the students of their denominations to discuss the special religious opportunities offered by that particular church.

Dr. A. M. Stickle, head of the history department, discussed current grave national and international problems at the chapel session last Monday.

Mrs. Josephine Lowman, physical culture expert and widely known columnist, spoke in chapel this morning.

Class meetings will be held on October 6. Nominations for cheerleaders will be made.

The following Wednesday, October 8, finds the Baptist Student Union in charge.

"What to Look for at a Football Game" is to be presented Friday, October 10, by a member of Western's athletic department.

The chapel hour for Monday, October 13, is set aside for a mass meeting of students.

Mr. Arthur Henderson, new member of Western's music department, will be heard in a piano recital at the chapel hour, October 17.

ent personalities, from Graves county. He graduated from the Southern Normal in 1902. He taught Latin and Greek in the Normal from 1903 to 1907, and was head of the Department of Geography in the Western Kentucky State Normal from 1907 to 1920. He accepted that year an appointment as a member of the State Tax Commission. In 1921 he became State Supervisor of High Schools. In 1923 he accepted a position as a member of the editorial staff and field representative of an educational publishing concern with headquarters in Chicago. This position he held until 1929 when he became Secretary to United States Senator Frederick M. Sackett. Later he accepted the appointment of Assistant to Commissioner of Indian Affairs. He has been associated with the office of the Comptroller General since 1934.

When he came to Bowling Green, Mr. Green brought with him his wife, who just previously had been Angie Morris, also of Graves county. She has for more than a long generation been her husband's companion, guide, philosopher, housekeeper, and source of inspiration. There have been three children: Russell, Frances, and Martha, all worthy of their heredity.

Western has had no more sparkling personality than that of R. P. Green; no more golden voice has been lifted from a Western platform; no more genuine concern for students' welfare has ever been manifested by a Western teacher. The City of Bowling Green never had a more public spirited or co-operative citizen. As to Professor Green's teaching, let C. M. Sammons testify. Sammons was a hale and hearty man from the deep Kentucky mountains, a fiddler of parts and committed to Homer's laughter, a B grade student, out of a grade popularity. One morning Sammons was sick. He groaned and tossed, eschewing food and health advice alike.

"I never was this sick," groaned Sammons. "I've had the whooping cough three or four times, and I've lost count of the measles. I've fallen out of a tree and I've been shot accidentally. I've been kicked by a black mule and bit by a snake, but I never felt this bad before. If I don't get any better I'm not going to my ten o'clock class, or my eleven o'clock class, and if I get much worse I'm not going to Professor Green's class either."

Letter To Alumni

Every member of the Alumni Association is entitled to receive the COLLEGE HEIGHTS HERALD, official school paper of Western Teachers College.

During the 1940-41 school year many improvements were made in the HERALD. So much expense was involved in making the improvements that we were forced to discontinue all unpaid subscriptions.

To those of you who received the paper regularly last year but who have not as yet sent us your alumni dues, we are asking that you do so at once so that we can continue to send you what we think is one of the very best college papers in the south.

Alumni dues are one dollar per year. Fifty cents of this amount is used to defray the cost of sending you the paper. If you haven't paid for the 1941-42 school year, why not do so now.

Cordially yours,

W. J. Craig,

Secretary of the Alumni Association.

Graduates Of '41 Leaves Memorial

Two reproductions of famous oil paintings were presented to Western during the summer by the 1941 graduating class. "Springtime in Virginia" is from the original oil painting by Nicolai Cikovsky, and the other, "Sunlit Patterns," is from a water color by Luigi Lucioni.

The two reproductions have been hung in the main corridor of Cherry Hall.

The artists, both of whom are well-known to art-lovers, were born in foreign countries, but came to America during the early part of their careers.

Cikovsky has risen to the forefront of American art because of his many awards which his talent has won him. He is now professor of art at the Corcoran Gallery of Art in Washington, D. C.

Luigi Lucioni is one of the most popular artists of our day. His handling of the American landscape in the old master vein of the early Italian school is interesting. New England, particularly Vermont, has afforded him most of his material for his paintings and etchings.

At present Lucioni maintains a studio in New York's Washington Square where many of the great personalities of the art world congregate.

A safety conference for farmers was recently conducted at the University of Minnesota.

Matthews Leaves For Ohio State

David Matthews, B.S. '41, left Tuesday, September 16, for Ohio State University at Columbus, Ohio, where he has received an assistantship in the physics department. Mr. Matthews was also awarded a professorship, which enables him to tutor freshmen at his residence in Baker Hall.

Mr. Matthews has been one of the outstanding members of the student body at Western for the last four years, not only as a diligent and sincere student but also as an active worker in extra-curricular activities. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Matthews of Bowling Green. Mrs. Matthews teaches English at College High.

Vincent Away On Leave

Mr. John Vincent, head of Western's music department, left the first of September for Cornell University to pursue graduate work under the eminent American composer Roy Harris, whose composition, "Folk Song Symphony," was given in a concert here last May.

Mr. Vincent has a nine months' leave from the school and will resume his work here next year. During his absence the duties of the music department will be handled by Messrs. Weldon Hart, Hugh Gunderson, and Chester Channon.

NOTICE TO GRADUATES

A number of teachers now in service have expressed a desire for additional graduates' classes to be offered on Saturday mornings. Western will be glad to offer such courses and is asking anyone who is interested to contact Dean E. C. Grise today.

Graduate courses scheduled for late week-day afternoons are now available for teachers in service. Persons planning to enroll in these classes should register within the next few days.

White Hussars To Appear Here

White Hussars, won his first national recognition as solo cornetist with John Phillip Sousa. His achievements on the trumpet, however, might be traced to years of private training under two of the world's greatest teachers of the trumpet, Max Schlossberg of the New York Philharmonic and Edward Lowell of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. His constant success with his organization is the result of not only his ability as a trumpeter but as a producer and a gifted showman.

Western Cadet Crowned Champ

The honors heaped upon the Reserve Officers Training Corp unit at Western were upheld this summer by Cadet Officer William C. Hungate in the Fifth Corps Area Reserve Officers Training Corps camp at Fort Knox, Kentucky.

Hungate, of Reed, Henderson county, achieved the highest score among the 457 infantry and engineering officer candidates who spent a week firing the 30 calibre Springfield rifle on the 100-target Forest Hill rifle range.

Hungate, who had never fired an army rifle before attending camp, made a score of 227, out of a possible 250 to qualify as an "expert rifleman" and lead his nearest competitor by two points.

He will be commissioned a second lieutenant in the Officer's Reserve Corps next June and expects to be called for extended active duty immediately after he is commissioned.

Hungate is an agricultural student at Western and is now a senior in R.O.T.C. He is also a member of the Pershing Rifles drill unit.

Study Center Opened

On Saturday, September 27, a study center was organized at Davis County High school, Owensboro. The classes are attended by only Davis county teachers.

for three and one-half years, struggling with inadequate equipment and helping to build the women's department into its present efficiency. Her work here terminated with her marriage to Mr. S. W. Lowman, head of the paleontological section of the Shell Oil Company at Houston, Texas.

Her interest continued, however, after her marriage. She organized a class in figure molding which grew from an enrollment of 50 to 500 students.

But the responsibilities of a home encroached so much upon her time, that Mrs. Lowman, who is the mother of a son and a daughter, went to the managing editor of the Tulsa Tribune and asked for a space, in order that she might pursue her major interest with her column, "Why Grow Old."

Within two months, the editor approached her with an offer from the Des Moines Register and Tribune Syndicate, whose manager had said, "Mrs. Lowman's column is the most interesting one that has crossed my desk in years." Within five years her column has spread to every metropolitan newspaper throughout the country, and her fan-mail averages thousands of letters weekly.

Miss Hazel Sublett, B.S. '41, is Mrs. Lowman's secretary.

Mrs. Lowman believes that through her writing, which covers a wide range of subjects related to physical education, she renders some beneficent service to health and humanity.

New Mirrorphone Added

An excellent addition to the equipment for speech training in the English department has been made during the summer months.

In the above photograph the inanimate object on Dr. J. Reid Sterrett's desk is known as a mirrorphone. Produced by the Western Electric Laboratories, the machine has the uncanny ability of reproducing sounds as soon as they are uttered.

The mirrorphone is the most recent and modern speech training instrument in use at the present time in larger universities and colleges. It will be used here to supplement the permanent recordings for students that have been made at Western for the past two years. The perfect reproduction of the mirrorphone makes it very useful for practice periods in which sounds are repeated in order to gain improved voice technique. The above cut shows Dr. Sterrett and Frank Bechtel using the mirrorphone in an analysis of enunciation qualities.

Lamb Re-elected P. R. Sponsor

Annie Lamb was unanimously re-elected sponsor of the Herbert W. Schmid Chapter of Pershing Rifles at their first meeting of the year.

Miss Lamb is a sophomore and was sponsor of the local unit last year. She is the second sponsor to have the honor of being re-elected to that post. By virtue of the honor, she is automatically an honorary captain of the company which grants her the privilege of wearing the Pershing Rifle cord and insignia.

Last year she attended all of the drills of the company and signified that this practice would be continued.

degree from the University of Wisconsin and M.M.E. degree from the Chicago Conservatory of Music. She has charge of the Training School orchestra and chorus and is doing part time teaching in the music department.

Mr. Wood received his A.B. degree from Western and his M.A. degree from Indiana University and has done graduate work at the University of Kentucky. He is teaching English and mathematics in the Training School.

Library Classes Do Summer Work

The practice work class in Library Science this summer visited and worked in the Simpson County High School, Franklin; Oakland library in Warren County; and the Center, Kentucky library.

The school administration class visited and drew plans for remodeling the Morgantown High School library.

Librarians Will Meet Oct. 16-18

The Kentucky Library Association will hold its 1941 convention at Bowling Green, October 16-18. The theme will be, "The Library as an Educational Agency."

All meetings will be held in the Kentucky Building except the breakfast, luncheon, and dinner meetings. Those meetings will be held at the Helm hotel.

On Thursday evening the program opens with Dr. A. L. Craig, George Peabody College, Nashville, being the principal speaker. The meeting on Thursday evening will be followed by a business session Friday morning.

Friday noon and afternoon there will be an interesting program of the Citizens Library League luncheon. Mr. H. Clarence Nixon, Vanderbilt University, will be the speaker. A forum discussion will follow. The discussion will be led by Mr. Harold Bingham, of the Louisville Public Library; Miss Lena Nofcier, Library Extension Division at Franklin; and other leading citizens of Kentucky. This program is followed Friday evening by a Book dinner.

Saturday morning the entire time will be devoted to teacher-librarians. This should prove of special interest to all librarians in this section of the state, and a large attendance is expected. Miss Martha M. Parks, Director, Division of School Libraries, State Department of Education, Nashville, Tenn., will be the speaker of the morning. Saturday noon will be the school librarians luncheon. (Send reservations to Miss Kate Turner Barton, Library, Bowling Green High School.) Miss Edna J. Grauman is president of the Association and will preside at the meetings.

Talks On Marriage To Be Given

The Young People of Christ Episcopal church on State Street are presenting a series of talks on the subject of marriage to be given during the next three weeks.

The first one, "Marriage and the Church," is to be discussed by Rev. G. W. Buchholz, the presiding minister. On the second Sunday night, Dr. M. L. Billings, head of Western's psychology department, will talk on "Marriage Through the Eyes of the Psychologist." The third of the series is to be given by Dr. L. O. Toomey, Bowling Green physician. His subject will be "Marriage Through the Eyes of the Medical Doctor."

The talks will follow the weekly Sunday night suppers attended by students of Western and the Bowling Green Business University. Every one is invited to attend.

News Notes of Pershing Rifles

By Don Poole Newsom

Captain Russel Ernst announced here today that at the Pershing Rifles National Assembly, which was held recently on the campus of the University of Illinois, the delegates voted to place the University of Kentucky in the Third Regiment, replacing Michigan State which was transferred to the First Regiment.

This will be of special interest to the students of Western since it will afford the opportunity for Western backers to compare these two Kentucky schools when pitted against each other.

The odds are for neither school, since each has defeated the other one time. This occurred when Western defeated the Wildcats in an Inter-Regimental Meet held on this campus in the early spring of 1938. Captain Clyde Downey was the commander of Western's winning drill team that year. The score was evened however, when Western was defeated by the Wildcats in an Inter-Regimental Meet at Lexington, Kentucky when U. K. served as host team.

The teams being deadlocked, Pershing Rifles are out to break the tie and place Western on top of the heap. This will not be easy for in addition to Western and the University of Kentucky, the Third Regiment is composed of Indiana University and the University of Illinois.

In the Third Regimental Meet last spring Western and the University of Illinois tied for first place. Both teams were called back for further consideration and in the drill-off the University of Illinois succeeded in nosing out Western by a narrow margin.

As far as records can reveal, this is the first time in the history of Pershing Rifles that two teams have ever tied and were called back to be reconsidered. Harvey Skaggs, 1st sergeant of Pershing Rifles at Western, was chosen as the "Best drilled Man" in the Third Regiment, winning over a number of specially picked men from other schools in the regiment. This was quite an accomplishment considering the fact that the cadet whom he defeated was chosen as the "Best drilled Man" in the University of Illinois which has a enrollment of over 5,200 men in Military Science alone.

Corporal Ted Cockshott further proved the superiority of Company B-3 by clinching third place in the same competition. Both Sergeant Skaggs and Corporal Cockshott were presented with medals signifying the honor they had been accorded.

At the last regular meeting of the past year, May 27, 1941, the company elected the following officers to serve for the following year: Captain Russel Ernst, president; 1st Lieut. W. J. Cannon, vice-president; 2nd Lieut. Lem Wright, treasurer; 2nd Lieut. Shelby Denton, secretary.

The company voted to send the Captain-elect Russel Ernst, to the Pershing Rifles National Assembly to be held at the University of Illinois, August 8-10. It was at this Assembly that U. K. was placed in the Third Regiment.

Western is to be host to the Third Regimental Drill Meet which is scheduled to take place some time in the early spring. An invitation has been extended to the Order of Zouaves, military honorary society at Purdue University, to attend this meet. The Zouaves are experts in a type of drill unknown and probably unseen by the general public. Their drill is done at the fatiguing pace of 236 steps per minute. This is over twice as fast as the drill cadence used by regular drill teams which is 120 steps per minute.

This exhibition is so unusual and entertaining that the Zouaves find their services are in constant demand the country over. Western will be fortunate in having the Order of Zouaves as their guests for the forthcoming drill meet.

Pershing Rifles began this year's activities by aiding the Registrar in the registration of freshmen. This met with much favorable comment and probably will be adopted as part of Pershing Rifles annual program.

First Lieut. William H. Saunders, Pershing Rifles' faculty adviser, disclosed in an interview with the Herald reporter that plans were being completed in preparation for this year's crop of candidates for membership in this organization.

Candidates for membership in Pershing Rifles are chosen because of their efficiency in drill, aptness in their studies, and general attitude toward their fellow classmates.

Western's New Defense Workshop

Constructed at a cost of approximately $25,000, this modern N.Y.A. shop building, located on the Russellville road section of the Western Teachers College campus, will shortly be put in service in training hundreds of local young men (ages 17 to 25) for positions in defense industries. The top picture shows the exterior of the completed shop. Below is the huge work room in which machinery is now being set up. Offices, dressing rooms, showers, etc., located in the front of the structure, are not shown in the interior view.

Training of southern Kentucky youths for positions in America's rapidly expanding defense industries will be started in the new shop building just completed on the Western campus, as soon as adequate machinery is received, according to N. Y. A. officials.

According to J. Matt Sparkman,

Roy Holmes To Play For Dances

Western's jitter-bug fans and likewise the rhythm smoothies can get ready for another successful year of dancing. Roy Holmes and his band have been selected to play for the school dances for this year. This, of course, does not include the Military Ball or other featured dances. The dance committees for these organizations will select the band of their choice for their evenings.

Be ready to go when the dances start rolling in. Incidentally the first dance on the Hill this year will be October 11, so plan for that night in advance.

"Long John" Mills is the tallest man on the Western campus.

N. Y. A. area director, three to four hundred unemployed, out-of-school youths between the ages of 17 and 25 will have an opportunity to gain work experience in welding, forge work, sheet metal work, and general machine shop practices. They are to be paid for their labor while undergoing the training course, and those best qualified will be recommended to the federal employment office for assignment to positions in industry at prevailing wage scales.

The workshop is the third of its kind in Kentucky. Mr. Sparkman states. Other shops in Kentucky, located at Ashland and Mayfield, have already sent about 70 young men to New Jersey and Connecticut. Youths from the local shop will have similar opportunities after they have had sufficient work experience.

The all-metal building, erected almost entirely by N. Y. A. workers, has been completed, and some of the equipment has been received. As soon as sufficient machinery has been delivered, the shop will be ready to operate full force. Mr. Sparkman said. Equipment is now arriving as such training centers are receiving priority attention on machine orders since they are considered vital to the defense effort.

It will be a round-the-clock operation when the training center begins activities with the shop operating six, four-hour shifts. Each youth will be engaged in actual production during his work, the products of the shop being articles needed in defense activities which do not require a great amount of skill to produce. In addition to the work period, each youth will spend three hours a day in related training provided for by the Department of Education. And to enable the youngsters to remain in training, each will receive a salary of $24 per month for his work.

musical father and an older sister, who was a concert pianist.

"At the age of 10 he entered the School of Music for the Training of Choir Directors and Organists, and at 15 he received a scholarship in the Royal Conservatory of Sauderhausen, where he became the pupil of the great pianist, Alfred Reisenauer. He was also a member of Dr. Franz Liszt's class at Weimar."

"In 1891 Mr. Strahm played chello in the Vendome orchestra in Nashville and taught piano at the Nashville Conservatory of Music."

"Mr. Strahm's compositions were classical, academically correct and proper as the old masters. He enjoyed the best of many different types of music."

"The finer appreciation of music over Kentucky may be in a large measure attributed to Mr. Strahm, since his coming to the state more than a quarter of a century ago."

"Western's excellent department of music is his life, his work, his dream come true."

Also, to be found in the Journal of the American Chemical Society, for 1941, is a formula worked out by him which may in the near future be of physiological importance.

Congress

The first of the weekly meetings of the Congress Debating Club was called to order at the traditional meeting place, Snell Hall, last Friday evening at 7:00 o'clock.

Although the number of members present was small, the Senators displayed their usual fervor for the bombastic as they whiffed the accumulation of cobwebs from the Hall with their cyclonic oratory.

The business of the hour was the election of new officers. In quick succession the following were elected: Sam Steger, president; George Lilly, vice-president; John Searcy, secretary-treasurer; and Glenn Carwell, sergeant-at-arms.

History

The first regular meeting of the history club will be held next Thursday night, October 9, in the Kentucky Building.

As usual this club will meet the second Thursday of each month.

The club is composed of all history majors and those minors who wish to join.

Ministerial

Officers who are to have charge of the vesper services sponsored by the Ministerial Club during the coming year were elected at the vesper service Wednesday night.

The following officers were elected: William Orr, president; Paul Cox, vice-president; Mary Louise Mardis, secretary-treasurer; George Lilly was elected song leader, and Shirley Taylor was chosen pianist.

Arts and Crafts

The Arts and Crafts Club held its first meeting of the year Tuesday night in the Industrial Arts building with Marjorie Hoebeke presiding.

Ralph Lewis was elected to the vice-presidency, filling the office left vacant by Carlos Johnson, who is now teaching in Williamson, W. Va., and the secretary, George Lilly, was instructed to act as reporter.

Mr. Carl Barnes and Mr. Walter Naibach gave short talks, and suggestions were made regarding a Homecoming banquet. President Hoebeke urged that a concerted effort be put forth to secure new members for the coming year. No business of any importance was conducted, and the club adjourned, to meet again Tuesday, October 14, at 7 o'clock.

Caroline Hines Accepts Post

Miss Caroline Hines, a graduate of Western, and a former member of Christ Church here, and for three years the Episcopal student worker at Winthrop College, Rock Hill, has become Student Secretary at the University of Oregon, at Eugene. In preparation for her new work Miss Hines has attended the University of California in Berkeley and St. Margaret's House where classes and Seminars have been held for student secretaries.

Miss Hines went to Winthrop after receiving her M.A. in religious education at Windham House. Many things have happened there with the Episcopal students during her time. A student branch of the Woman's Auxiliary has been formed; they were hosts to the first South Carolina Episcopal Student Conference; the system of a student Council has been instituted; regular celebrations of the Holy Communion have been instituted; many girls have been guided to Kanuga and other church conferences and missions.

Miss Hines is the daughter of Mr. Porter Hines, Engineer at Western, and graduated in 1936. She was a member of the Herald staff and of the English Club.

Alanson Trigg spent last week-end at his home in Glasgow.

Sue Braun spent last week-end at her home in Madisonville.

Jane Eakins spent last week-end in Louisville.

ATTENTION!—"Naval Academy," the stirring tale of adventure that befalls three gallant young Americans, as they become tomorrow's men of the Navy. With Freddie Bartholomew, Jimmy Lydon and Billie Cook, the drama, action and thrills that you would expect when a group of virile, red-blooded young Americans get together, comes to the screen of the Princess theatre Sunday and Monday.

Former Student Wins Award

Prof. G. G. Craig, head of the penmanship department, received a letter last week from Mrs. Zelma Osborne Erwin of Louisville, containing acknowledgment of the benefits received in her penmanship classes at Western. Mrs. Erwin entered Western in 1925 and received her teachers' certificate in 1931. She is employed at the present time at Beck's Jewelry store in Louisville.

Jimmie Hargis spent last week-end at his home in Louisville.

Brodi Cates spent last week-end in Louisville attending the V. P. I. Kentucky football game.

Quads Undecided About College

teen-room bungalow built for the Lashleys near the old Hartford Road and set in a background of clotheslines, flapping white, Fannie Mae, the oldest daughter, says this is an everyday occurrence.

Fannie Mae was described by Miss Marks as one of the loveliest and most sensible girls that she had ever met.

"We love our little sisters and brother," the girl explained, "but their coming has completely disrupted our family. Before this we lived a simple, quiet life; now we are forever creating a great hullabaloo in the eyes of the public."

This desire to withdraw from publicity may account for the admission charges of thirty cents to see the seven-months old babes. But no strangers are admitted into the nursery, as it is air-conditioned.

Miss Marks observed the quads through the windows overlooking the veranda. "They are lovely sweet babies," she said, "who resemble as two pairs of twins, not as one personality."

Their cousin, Miss Orene Lashley, finished her work in elementary education at Western in 1937.

When asked whether they planned to send the quadruplets to Western, Fannie Mae laughed.

"Oh, I don't know. Is that where you teach?"

But the quads do not seem interested in college—yet.

Woodford T. Moseley, last year's Cadet Lt.-Col. in the R. O. T. C., is on the Hill today to attend the educational meeting.

Western Cadets Receive Good Rating At Camp

The colors of Western's Reserve Officers Training Corps unit shone this summer at the Fifth Corps Area Reserve Officers' Training Corps camp at Fort Knox, Kentucky, when the twenty-four Western cadets in attendance, qualified either as a rifle or as a pistol marksman. Ninety-six per cent of Western cadets enrolled in camp qualified on the rifle range. This was the highest percentage made by any school in the Fifth Corps Area. Each cadet received a medal which designated the rating he made.

One cadet, William C. Hungate, qualified as an expert rifleman with a score of 227 out of a possible 250. This was the highest rating in the Fifth Corps Area.

Six cadets qualified as rifle sharpshooters. They were, Marion Bell, James Browning, Floyd Carter, Albert Christian, Willis Haag, and Ralph Shrewsbury.

Those who received the marksman rating were, Joffre Boston, Wilbur J. Cannon, Maurice Cates, William B. Clark, Jesse Conner, Russell Ernst, Henry P. Haley, James E. Hargis, Lester Keys, George Patterson, James K. Ramsey, John Searcy, Sam Steger, Henry V. Thomas, William P. Watts, and Lemuel Wright.

In the pistol firing, Cadets John Searcy and James Browning were awarded the sharpshooter's rating, while Jesse H. Conner, Shelby Denton, Willis Haag, William C. Hungate, and George Patterson received the marksman's rating.

Exhibit Held By Music Club

The Bowling Green Music club held an art exhibit in the Kentucky building last Wednesday in connection with their regular music program. The club is attempting to combine both the music and the art of the same era into their meetings. This particular program featured local musicians and artwork produced by Bowling Green artists.

Among those who exhibited for the program there were many persons who were either former students of Western, or teachers and students in Western at the present time. Mrs. L. O. Toomey, former teacher of art in the training school, showed work in the field of modern art. Also in the training school of the college was Mrs. Betty Shemwell Pardee who showed her work. Miss Mary Ruth Lemons, Mr. Ivan Wilson, and Miss Ruth Hines Temple, all of the art department of Western, also exhibited. Among the rest of those who were on the art portion of the program were: Mrs. Parks Callis, former student at Western; Bob Briggs, '43; and H. F. Mankin, who has won national honors in the field of cartooning.

THE GOAL POST

Speakers For Third District Meeting

The Rev. Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, author, lecturer and interpreter of political and social problems, addressed the opening session of the annual meeting of the Third District Education Association last evening in Van Meter auditorium. For 20 years he has been pastor of Madison Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, now Christ church, on Park avenue, in New York City.

Mrs. Georgia McAdams Clifford, Teacher, lecturer, author and entertainer of Chautauqua, N. Y., is to speak in Van Meter auditorium at 8 o'clock this evening during the closing session of the annual two-day meeting of the Third District Education Association. She will speak on the subject, "A Story Lecture on the Evolution of American Humor." For 15 years she has taught in Washington university, St. Louis.

W. Gayle Starnes of the University of Kentucky, Lexington, president of the Department of Visual Instruction of the National Education Association, is to give an illustrated lecture on the subject, "Motion Pictures in a World at War," at a meeting of the Third District Education Association's department of secondary schools this afternoon in Van Meter auditorium.

Mrs. Lowman To Speak At 9:15 Today (Continued From Page 1)

received her degree from Sargent College, which is now affiliated with Boston University.

She is interested, primarily, in the application of health and beauty to daily life, and in their effect on one's mental viewpoint. Her column on "Why Grow Old" is syndicated in thirty leading newspapers in the United States and three in Canada. Last year she received over one hundred and fifty thousand letters from readers. The Houston post office delivers her mail in a truck each day.

Mrs. Clifford has appeared on the program of several District Associations in Kentucky in recent years. She is one of America's most beloved story tellers and for this reason has been sought after as lecturer, author and entertainer. For fifteen years she has taught courses in the art of story telling at George Washington University in St. Louis. Mrs. Clifford has the great distinction of having appeared for fourteen successive summers on the amphitheater platform at Chautauqua, New York as one of its most popular lecturers.

Her delightful voice and charming manner have won for her the presidency of the American Association of Story Tellers.

Officers of the Third District Association include Miss Mackie Rasdell, Principal of Woodburn School; president; James Depp, Superintendent of the Glasgow city schools, vice-president; and Dr. Warner M. Willey, Western's department of education; secretary-treasurer.

Other directors are Arnold Winkenhof of Western's training school and Wendell Butler of Edmonton.

The membership of the association is 1,400. Counties represented are Warren, Allen, Simpson, Logan, Todd, Muhlenberg, Butler, Edmonson, Barren, Metcalfe, Monroe, and Cumberland.

Independent school districts represented in the organization are Scottsville, Cave City, Glasgow, Burkesville, Russellville, Centerville, Greenville, Benview-Cleaton, Franklin, Guthrie, Trenton, and Bowling Green.

Several Faculty Members Away During Summer

Five members of the Western faculty were on leave during the past summer. Those being away were Mr. J. Reid Sterrett, Miss Elizabeth Strayhorn, Mr. Frank Lawrence, Miss Julia Neal, and Coach W. L. "Gander" Terry.

While on leave for the summer Mr. Sterrett completed work for the Doctor of Philosophy degree in speech at the University of Wisconsin.

Miss Strayhorn, member of Western's mathematics department, was given a leave of absence last February to do special Red Cross work in the Army. She is now stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., but will probably return to her duties at Western at the beginning of the second semester of this year.

Mr. Lawrence, physical education director and coach at the College High Training School, attended Peabody Teachers College in Nashville, Tenn. While at Peabody Mr. Lawrence completed his work for an M.A. degree.

Miss Neal, a member of the English department, attended the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, Mich.

Coach Terry, director of athletics, attended the second summer term at the University of Kentucky.

Annual Faculty Reception Held

The annual faculty reception was held last Friday evening from 8:00 to 10:00 o'clock in the Kentucky Building. There were receiving lines in each of the several rooms, the entire building being used. A string ensemble furnished music for the occasion, and refreshments were served.

Of the 90,000 officers in the United States army, fewer than 7,000 are West Pointers.

MAKERS OF MEN

Football coaching is the job of making men—strong men, thinking men who know the game, play the game, and win or lose, maintain the spirit of sportsmanship.

The men of Western, under the leadership of W. L. Terry, set these high goals for themselves. Coaches like these are the makers of real men! Good luck, Western, for a great season!

Intramural Sports Program Announced

1941 Freshman Squad Smallest In Three Years

When Coach "Gander" Terry gave the call for freshman football players this fall, twenty candidates responded to the call.

Coach Terry said not only would the Western freshman go under the name of baby Hilltoppers, but that the squad would fit the name "baby" in every respect. This year's 1941 freshman squad is the smallest in size and number that has taken to the gridiron in the last four years.

The majority of the freshman squad came from good high school teams with the exception of three of the boys with this being their first time trying a hand at the pigskin game.

The baby "Toppers" backfield is superior to the average backfield of the freshman squads in the last few years. The forward wall is about average or a little below par because of the fact that weight is lacking.

Four of the freshman backfield men have been inducted into service for the varsity squad under a new ruling passed this year by the S. I. A. A. permitting member colleges to raise their squad personnel to a total of 29 players. All four freshmen playing varsity ball are backs; their names are Charles Baily, Ludlow; Lou Cullen, Meadeville, Pa.

John Mazola, and Robert Currier, Auburn, N. Y.

The 1941 Baby Topper Roster:
Backs: Ray Mills, Lynch; Paul Franklin, Harlan; Russell Trace, Corbin; William Cunningham, Ornsby Village.

Ends: George Maines, Tompkinsville; Charles Metra, Moundsville, Pa.; Rudy Sills, Cadiz.

Tackles: Charles Hord, Campbells-ville; John Walkas, Lynch; Bill Paul-ley, Brownville.

Guards: Andrew Jones, Charles- ton, W. Va.; Carroll Hall, Marion; Joe Stevens, Russell; Delmas Pars- ley.

Centers: Buddy Keys, Tompkins- ville; Edward Earl Garr, Louisville.

The Baby Toppers have two games scheduled, the first, October 16 with T. P. I. here and Murray, November 14 at Murray.

Fighting Forces To Be Admitted Free To Games

Any uniformed member of Uncle Sam's fighting forces will be admitted free to the 1941 football games played at Western Teachers College, according to an announce- ment by the Western Athletic Com- mittee.

The action of the committee is expected to bring about a heavy in- crease in the number of soldiers, from Fort Knox who attend West- ern's football games and to also provide a source of entertainment for the soldiers, sailors, and marines of this section who will be home on furloughs during the season.

Western's opening home game will be played October 25 when the Hill- toppers meet Eastern Kentucky in a Homecoming tilt. On November 14, Howard College of Birmingham will provide opposition in a Dad's Day game, and on November 22 the Murray Thoroughbreds come here for Western Kentucky's annual Pennyrite-Purchase clash. The game with Howard College which will be played on Friday will mark the first time in many years that Western has played a home varsity game on any day other than Saturday.

Gym Floor Is Re-finished

The main floor of the physical education building was recently cleaned and given two coats of a special gym floor lacquer. The floor was sanded and lacquered last De- cember, and that and the recent treatment has put it in the best condition that it has been in since the building was constructed.

Maurine Sublett, A.B., '44, of Owensboro, is teaching at Halleck Hall in Louisville.

Saddler Home On Furlough

"LIGHTHORSE HARRY" SADDLER, Ensign in Uncle Sam's Naval Reserve, returned to the scene of many of his past triumphs last week and was persuaded by Topper Coach Ed Diddle to demonstrate the sensational push shot which he used in hanging up a new state scoring record in 1939. Put on for the edification of 3 giant fresh- men hopefuls, Ray, McKinney, and Labhart, whom Coach Diddle hopes will be victims of Saddler's exposure, the exhibition failed to prove anything except that if Saddler can hit a bomb target like he can the hoops in the Health Building we're glad he's on our side. Saddler left early this week for Norfolk, Va., where he will be sta- tioned for several months.

Toppers Down Austin-Peay 38-0 In Season's Openers

In a pre-school game Western Hilltoppers sailed to a complete victory in the initial football game of the '41 season over the Austin-Peay Governors at Clarksville, Tennes- see, by a score of 38-0, Friday night, September 19.

Although the Hilltoppers seemed a little weak on both offensive and defensive passing, they scored the first touchdown of the season on about the second offensive play they attempted with a flat pass from Crouch to Downing.

Coach Terry followed his last year's policy of appointing a cap- tain before each game and chose the veteran tackle, Pete Marcus, for the position.

The initial line-up contained only one man who was not on the varsity last season, Arnold at left tackle. The remaining line-up was as fol- lows: left end, Downing; left guard, Bowling; center, Stoll; right guard, Hunter; right tackle, Marcus; right end, Kinduell; quarterback, Salato; left half back, Crouch; right halfback, Wilson; fullback, Sparrow. At some time throughout the game the remainder of the squad saw action.

The Hilltoppers seemed strong on end round and center plays, gain- ing most of the yardage in this way. Joe Cullen, Sophomore, played havoc with the Governors on his over the center plunges through the holes opened up by Western's tough line.

With their passing technique whipped into shape, the Hilltoppers have the prospects for a successful season.

Valentine Accepts Post

L. L. Valentine, a graduate of Western, has been made executive assistant to Vernon D. Northrup, director of finance and statistics for the N. Y. A. in Washington.

Mr. Valentine was principal of Franklin High School for several years and was appointed state di- rector of finance for the N. Y. A. in 1939. He resigned as state director to assume his new duties in Wash- ington this month.

Since its founding in 1802, United States Military academy has ad- mitted 23,032 cadets, including for- eigners, and has graduated 12,661.

Hornback Named Manager For Sporting Events

By Mack Sisk

Athletic director "Gander" Terry has announced that a year-round intramural sports program has been planned for Western students. Coach "Teddy" Hornback has been appointed to the post of intramural manager and has completed the plans for a full year's activities in practically all minor sports.

The list of the sports that are in- cluded on the calendar for competi- tion will be of general interest to individuals as well as teams. The sports that have been selected are touch-football, softball, tennis (singles and doubles), volley ball, ping-pong, basketball-free throw, handball, and badminton. Manager Hornback made the statement, when announcing the intramurals, that he believed that there was a wide enough range in the sports selected to create interest among practically all students on the Hill.

Various clubs on the campus are planning to sponsor a squad to com- pete in the intramural sports. Each organization will be limited to a squad of 35 men. Such a squad should furnish an ample supply of men for candidates in all of the various competitions.

Coach Hornback has worked out a complete plan for the proper functions of the intramural sports program. This program should meet with much success providing the proper support is given by the stu- dents and various clubs and organi- zations on the Hill. A full set of rules and regulations regarding the organization of the full program in detail is posted on practically every bulletin board on the Hill. Each and every organization is urged to consult these posted sheets of in- formation on the intramurals pro- gram. A copy of the program will be gladly given upon request at the office of the physical education building.

The physical education depart- ment urges all students to take part in the intramural sports program. The purpose of the program is to give the students who are not par- ticipating in major sports or who are not physical education majors an even chance to take part in one of the things that Americans love so well—their sports.

Students who have won varsity letters at Western or any other col- lege will not be permitted to com- pete in the intramural sports.

The date set for the first entries of the fall sports is October 6. The fall intramural sports program con- sist of touch-football, softball, and tennis (singles and doubles). Clubs and other organizations are urged to get the information sheets on the intramural sports program immedi- ately and get busy and organize their teams for an all-out year of good clean fun and sport.

Byrd Plays Pro Football

Tom Byrd, who finished an out- standing football career at Western last season is now wearing the to- ge in National Pro circles.

Byrd is the property of the De- troit Lions of the National Profes- sional Football League. The big tackle reported directly to the main camp in Detroit at the start of the season and showed up well enough to be retained there for several weeks.

The Detroit coaches were well pleased with their new prospect but because of a surplus of linemen and his lack of pro experience, Byrd was sent to Jersey City for seasoning with that club.

Tom is now with the Jersey City team and is still playing his con- sistent, yet outstanding type of ball.

Professor J. R. Whitmer was the chapel speaker at Bristow High school Wednesday morning, Oct. 1. His subject was "Appreciation of the Things Americans Have to Enjoy."

Spikes Cleats and Sneakers

By Mack Sisk

Coach "Gander" Terry's Hilltoppers started their 1941 football campaign with a bang in spite of one of the smallest squads of veterans to ever return to the Hill. The Toppers with a squad of 24 strong started the season with an easy victory over Austin Peay to the tune of 38-0, and then took the second game of the season by a score of 14-0 over Morehead.

The gym floor is really in fine shape after a new refinishing job that has just been completed, and Mr. Diddle is keeping watch night and day to see that no unnecessary tracks are made before time for him to take the reign of the Western winter sports interest. By the way, speaking of gym floors, what happened to the trophy case that was to house the Western spoils of victory in the Administration building. The Western football coaches seem to think that they may have to start a "V" for victory campaign before the Hilltoppers complete this year's schedule, the toughest in Western's history.

WKTC

Coach "Teddy" Hornback, to you, flowers for the fine work you are doing on the promotion of athletic intramurals on the Western campus.

Mr. Hornback announced that plans have been completed for a year-round intramural sports program for Western students, with competition being offered by the various clubs and organizations on the Hill. A full account of the intramurals program as mapped by Manager Hornback is in this issue of the HERALD; it should be of interest to every boy because not a thing is left out, ranging from touch football to ping-pong. Let's support this program—it is certainly worth the support of every Western student.

"TOP TOPPERS"

Note: This column will announce as a regular feature of each issue, Toppers that have been outstanding in some field of athletics or any sport activity and deserves to be titled a "Top Topper."

Pete Marcus, 23 years of age, comes from South Uniontown, Pa. Pete came to Western as a freshman in 1937. Attending South Uniontown High School, Marcus was a versatile man on his high school football team as he played every position in the forward wall. This season, Pete is Coach Terry's only veteran and senior tackle; he tips the scales at 205 pounds.

Pete is an economics and sociology major. He is looking to the Naval Air Corps for his career. If he lives by the same standards in the Naval Air Corps that he has set while a student at Western, he will make one swell flyer for Uncle Sam.

WKTC

Jimmy Salato, another northern boy, hails from Cayuga, N. Y. Jim is 24 years of age and weighs 180 pounds. He fills the position of quarterback on the gridiron team. Salato played halfback and the quarter position while attending Mynderse Academy, Seneca Falls, N. Y., during his high school football career in 1932-36.

Jim came to Western as a freshman in 1938. Salato, a senior, is a pre-med student and plans to enter a medical school upon graduation, studying for the career of a medical technician.

WKTC

Tom Byrd, one of the Hilltopper's ace tackles last season, is now playing pro ball for the Detroit Lions. One of Western's sons of the hardwood returned to the campus this week all donned in a uniform, but not one of Red and Grey in which he was so familiarly known about the Hill, but all decked out in white with wings. Harry Saddler is now flying for Uncle Sam's Naval Air Corps.

Back to the football picture. Hats off to Bob Wilson for his 80-yard return of an Austin Peay punt in the opener—this Wilson boy also racked up 18 points of Western's 38. Coach Terry not only has a talented back-

Toppers Break Drought In Morehead Tilt

The Western Hilltoppers chalked up their second gridiron victory of the season last Saturday night by defeating the Morehead Teachers 14 to 0. The game was a charity contest for the under-privileged children of Ashland, and an estimated crowd of 2,500 fans was in attendance.

The "Topper" touchdown that came in the first stanza was the first to be scored by either school in their three years series of play which began in 1939 in the Western stadium, ending in a 2 to 0 victory for the Hilltoppers. Last year at Morehead the fighting Eagles held the Terymen to a scoreless tie.

The first Western tally came as a result of a march down the field with Crouch and Wilson playing the most important roles. Crouch clipped off 12 yards at right tackle and then tossed Ralph Gadd a pass which netted 17 yards, followed up by a 12-yard gain by Wilson. Big Joe Cullen, fullback, aided the combination of Wilson and Crouch by some short plunges through the opponent's forward wall to rest the pigskin on the Morehead 20. Crouch then heaved a pass into flat territory in which Wilson received and stepped in pay-dirt.

Coach Terry then substituted John Mazola, freshman back, who converted the extra point for the Hilltoppers.

The game was then played on a fairly even basis for the second and third quarters, with the Western boys playing heads-up ball and protecting the seven point lead by punting on the early downs.

After the fourth stanza was well under way and Morehead had possession of the ball, Al Zimmerman, sophomore end, intercepted an Eagle pass tossed by Workman and raced 31 yards for the second and final touchdown of the game. Again Coach Terry called Mazola for a try at the up-rights, and the conversion was good.

The Hilltoppers gained 90 yards from rushing to 64 for the Eagles, and also took the first down margin by 8-6. Western netted 41 yards from passing, completing four out of seven tries; Morehead took 64 yards from the air.

Wilson and Crouch took the Western backfield honors, while Downing, Stoll, Hunter, and Bowling turned in a good brand of football for the Topper forward wall.

Hilltoppers Seek Third Straight Victory Tonight

The Western Hilltoppers will meet their third opponent of the season October 3, when they again take to the road to engage the Tennessee State Teachers at Murfreesboro.

Tonight's game will be the Hilltoppers' third stab for victory, as they have already defeated their first two opponents, Austin Peay and Morehead. Last year the Toppers took the Blue Raiders into camp on the local gridiron by a score of 13-0.

Coach Terry said that the Tennessee boys should not be taken too lightly although the Blue Raiders are expected to provide less competition than any of the remaining teams on the Toppers' schedule.

In last year's contest the Tennessee team was composed mostly of sophomores and juniors. Coach Terry said he expected a more matured and experienced team than that of last season for the Blue Raiders. The Middle Tennessee teams usually are especially tough on their defensive play, and the Topper coaches are expecting the same strong resistance to be present this year that was exhibited by the Blue Raider forward wall last season.

The Hilltopper squad came out of the Morehead tilt last week-end without a casualty list and should be in line shape for tonight's game. It is impossible to compare the Toppers and Blue Raiders on this season's play as tonight's encounter with Western will be the Tennessee boys first game of the 1941 season. The Toppers have already played two games, and this should provide an edge in favor of the Western boys as the experience of the early season starters means much to a team.

The probable starters for the Hilltoppers in tonight's game are, backs, Salato, Crouch, Wilson, and Sparrow; ends, Downing and Kinduell; tackles, Arnold and Marcus; guards, Bowling and Hunter; center, Stoll.

Parks To Speak

Miss Martha Manier Parks, director of Division of School Libraries of the State Department of Education, of Tennessee, will speak at the teacher-librarian section of the Kentucky Library Association. Miss Parks attended West Tennessee Teachers College and Sophie Newcomb College and since 1932 has held her present position in the Department of Education at Nashville.

Miss Parks is an outstanding authority on library work, and her talk should prove most interesting. She is also scheduled to speak at the Third District Educational Association.

University of Michigan will celebrate the 100th anniversary of the opening of its college of literature, science and the arts October 15.

Freshman Week Observed

The new edition of the 1941 freshman class of Western observed their annual Frosh Week exercises, starting September 19.

Friday was taken up with chapel exercises and administering standardized placement tests of various types.

The members of the new class were treated with their first tastes of Western social life at the annual introductory dance held Saturday night. It gave them an opportunity to meet their fellow classmates and to relax after their previous two days of excitement. A large number attended and "got in the groove" with the music of the Roy Holmes orchestra.

The dance was held at the Armory because of repairs being made on the gym floor.

Studio Is Now Home Ec House

The Rock House, formerly used as a piano and violin studio by Mr. Hugh Johnson and the late Professor Franz J. Strahm, is being remodeled as a practice house for the home economics department. This was made necessary because of crowded conditions and the inadequacy of the present practice house.

The new practice house, when finished, will provide accommodation for six home economic senior girls and a hostess.

It is being remodeled to provide four bedrooms, bath, powder room, living room, vestibule entrance, dining room, and kitchen. Floors have been relaid and the house has been papered and painted throughout. New light fixtures and new kitchen cabinets have been installed. The outside design remains the same.

The work has been done by students of the industrial arts department.

Butchering Lab Moved

The agriculture department has moved the site of its butchering laboratory into the Agriculture Devillon. It was previously located in a separate building close to the Pavilion. Dr. W. J. Edens stated that the change had been made in order to obtain more space for the new machinery and the enlarged facilities which the school has provided for its butchering classes.

Former Cadets Visit Campus

Four former Western students, now commissioned officers in the United States Army, were on the campus this week during their furlough periods. They were Second Lieutenants Harry Wooldridge of Hopkinsville, George Willson of Campbellsville, Julian Turner of Louisville, and Harold Harris of Bowling Green.

All four boys were commissioned the early part of the summer and have just graduated from the infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga. Lieuts. Turner and Clinton Arnett, another former Western student, both made superior ratings and have been retained as staff members in the infantry school.

Lieut. Harris has been assigned duty at Camp Robertson, California, and Lieut. Wooldridge will report to Camp Wheeler Infantry Replacement Center in Georgia, where he will train the selectees.

The Hilltoppers have a slight let-up in their schedule this week-end when they travel to Murfreesboro, Tennessee, to engage the Middle Tennesseans, but by no means can the Middle Tennesseans be regarded as a breeze.

. . . Coach Terry is putting into practice the new ruling passed by the S. I. A. A. allowing a limited number of freshmen to play varsity football during their first college year. The purpose of this is to take up the slack made by varsity men joining Uncle Sam's armed forces. Four freshmen are now on the Hilltopper varsity football roster; they are Charles Bally, Ludlow; Lou Cullen, Meadeville, Pa.; John Mazola, and Robert Currier, Auburn, N. Y.

Those interested in obtaining hunting licenses please see Mr. Diddle. . . When the Hilltoppers scored on the Morehead boys in the first quarter last Saturday night at Ashland, it was the first scoring blood to be drawn by either team in three years.
